

With such wholesome products on offer, all design aspects needed to be natural and earthy. Multiple timbers for the unitry, garden trugs as baskets and clear acrylic hoppers filled with seeds suspended from the ceiling helped to achieve this. At the same time, it was practical – encouraging customers across the threshold

The 'Bread Hopper' displays are both eye-catching from the pavement but also offer a practical solution for displaying small quantities of many different breads for short periods throughout the day. With the inclusion of 3 suspended shelves and bread dividers the display offers both density and flexibility
